AN ORDINANCE to amend an ordinance titled "An ordinance to prevent the obstruction of and to regulate the use of the sidewalks," being No. 79 and the amendments thereto.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows:

Section 1. Section 1 of an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to prevent the obstruction of and to regulate the use of the sidewalks," being No. 79, of the City of Janesville is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

allow to remain, in or upon any sidewalk, any sign or structure, or any goods, wares, merchandise or thing whatsoever, necessary for the construction or repair of a sidewalk, and no person shall suspend, place or allow to remain, over or across any sidewalk, any wooden awning or sign or structure, or any goods, wares, merchandise or thing whatsoever, in the city of Janesville, without the permission of the common council: provided that no person in this ordinance shall be construed as prohibiting the use of any sidewalk for the purpose of the same.

used solely as hitching posts for horses and other animals, and provided that any merchant, store-keeper or shop-keeper may place wares or merchandise upon the sidewalk in front of, and within three feet from, the store or building occupied by him; and provided that any merchant, store-keeper or shop-keeper may occupy or use that portion of the sidewalk in front of his place of business within three feet of the sidewalk line most distant from the building occupied by him for not more than one

"and provided that any person may suspend and maintain over any sidewalk joining any lot or building owned or controlled by him, an awning or awnings made of wood with iron or wooden frame, similar to now in common use, no part of which shall at any time be less than seven feet from sidewalk."

SECTION 2. Section 6 of said ordinance amended "An ordinance to prevent the obstruction of sidewalks and crossings of streets by persons who shall signposts of not more than fifty dollars nor less than ten dollars, and each day during any part of which any provision of this ordinance shall be violated, shall constitute and be deemed a separate violation of said ordinance.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall take effect on and after its publication.

Passed April 15th, 1889.

HAS MR. PRATT AN IRON MINE?

Reported Discovery of Iron in the Pratt Stone Quarry Near This City

The Owner is Confident that He Has Found a Literal Bonanza.

Last evening Mr. Thomas Pratt, proprietor of the stone quarries two miles north of the city on the Fulton road, came into the Gazette office with something less than a hundred weight of some kind of mineral specimens, and, laying them down said:—

"There, that is what I have discovered up in my stone quarries: have blasted out tons of it within the past two or three days; have just found that it is iron ore. The quarry where we are now at work is full of it. You see that (holding up a specimen) is pretty good ore, as good as any you see from the Gogebee range. This (exhibiting a thin piece about 8x10 in size, covered with sand) is iron rust, and is not considered of any value. There is iron and plenty of it up there in the bluff."

"What are you going to do with your find," asked a reporter.

"Don't know yet. There's millions in it, and I have a good vein now in sight. I'll leave these specimens with you, and if anyone wants to organize a stock company they know where to find me. No, I don't think I will build a railway up to the quarry this season. Seriously, it is a little premature, but there is no telling what it may develop. This is fair evidence that there is plenty of ore up there; but it should turn out worthless, I shall have all the first class building stone required for building in Janesville for many years. There is a pile of it in that bluff."

Lead and copper in small quantities have been found in Rock county, and we believe one man down near Afton thought he discovered traces of coal while digging or drilling a well, but this is the first reported discovery of iron ore. Should Mr. Pratt's discovery prove of value, developments of interest will follow.

BRIEFLY.

—Arthur W. Wheelock, of Rockford, is in the city.

—Union Centennial services at the Congregational church this evening.

—Bankers took no holiday. Signs announcing a holiday were put out but were soon removed.

—A runaway resulted in the wrecking of a carriage on South Main street at eleven o'clock last night.

—Janesville City Lodge No. 30, I. O. O. F., occupy Old Fellows' hall this evening—regular weekly meeting.

—For Rent: Barn at east end of Court street bridge. Possession given May 1st, if desired. O. E. MITCHELL.

—It should have been stated last evening that the subscription price of the Entertainment Bureau is one dollar a year.

—Charles Heimstreet, who has been the guest of Ed. Griswold of Racine; for several days past, has returned to his home in this city.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. White, of Chicago, are spending a few days in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Draper, of the first ward.

—Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, assemble in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Jefferson block, West Milwaukee street.

—As the Hern-Brown jury waited patiently last night for morning to appear the twelve were unanimous upon one point—that jury duty was a nuisance.

—Between three and four hundred people joined the Chicago excursionists this morning, it being one of the largest excursion parties ever going from this city.

—Thirty-four men answered to the roll call at the semi-annual muster of the Light Infantry last evening in the Armory. Captain Koebin was in command.

—Key Humphrey who was so seriously injured by a fractious horse Saturday afternoon is reported to be slowly improving. The danger will not be over for several days.

—Centennial services this evening at the Congregational church; Judge John Bennett will preside, patriotic music and short speeches by Judge Patterson, B. F. Dunwiddie, Esq., and Col. Nicholas Smith.

—The Gazette was in error last evening in announcing the death of little George Noonan, in stating the name of his grand-parents. It should have been Wm. Lepper and not Levi Pepper, 206 Center avenue.

—Old American barn for rent. O. E. MITCHELL.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Cogswell and family departed this morning for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will visit relatives and friends for a short time, and then proceed to Boston, Mass. Their many friends in Janesville part with them with regrets, yet the best wishes of all follow each member of the family.

—Cards for the wedding of Mrs. J. Gardner Williams, formerly of Janesville, to J. Frank Henrich, of Chicago, have been received by Janesville friends. The wedding took place at the home of the bride in Chicago Thursday, April 26th, Mr. and Mrs. Henrich will be at home at the Hotel St. Benedict.

—Mrs. Geo. W. Case, of LaCrosse, and her mother, Mrs. Nash, spent yesterday with old friends in the city. Mrs. Nash is an old resident of the county, and for many years lived on the old Nash homestead five miles out on the Emerald Grove road. Mrs. Case is the wife of Presiding Elder Case, of the LaCrosse district.

—At the "museum" Wednesday afternoon after the schools have closed all scholars will be admitted for five cents each. Several years ago Mr. Addy generously donated a large and valuable collection of specimens to the high school. The scholars will now be given an opportunity to turn out in force and repay the compliment. Mr. Addy's collection will never be placed on exhibition in this city, either private or public again.

—A large and well pleased crowd, including many ladies, visited Addy's museum last night and inspected his mammoth collection. There are over one hundred cases of rare curiosities on exhibition, including the wonderful mermaid, half human, half fish, and well worth going to see. Our citizens should patronize it liberally. Mr. Addy is an old resident of this city. He started his collection thirty years ago and now has one that he is very proud of.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Matilda E. Palmer, wife of Mr. Milo S. Palmer, was held at two o'clock this afternoon from the house, No. 165 Washington street, first ward. The attendance of the family friends was quite large. The Rev. James Slidell, rector of Trinity church, conducted the impressive services, the music being rendered by the choir of Trinity church. At the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Oak Hill for interment; the pall bearers being Messrs. W. B. Britton, A. A. Jackson, J. L. Ford, E. T. Foote, Hiram Bump and B. F. Crockett.

—At 11:48 o'clock this forenoon an alarm of fire was turned in from box 15, located at the corner of North Academy and Wall streets, first ward. The fire department made a quick run to the box only to find that the alarm had been turned in without cause. In this case it was an easy matter for the officers to identify the parties that turned in the alarm, and notwithstanding their prominence they will be given a chance to defend their conduct in the municipal court, in spite of the efforts to hush the matter up. Should they be let off, it would be a crime to attempt the prosecution of others less prominent. The parties in question knew what they were doing and know the penalty, and it is but fair that they walk up the hill and settle for their supposed delinquency.

OBITUARY.

MRS. SARAH C. CALF.

At seven o'clock and twenty-six minutes last evening Mrs. Sarah C. Calf, wife of Mr. Edward Calf, No. 7 South Franklin street, fourth ward, quietly passed to her heavenly reward, in the forty-ninth year of her age.

Deceased had been afflicted with cancer in the breast, and although not confined to her bed until within the past two weeks, she was a great sufferer on account of the dreadful and fatal disease which had warned her of her end. Through all her long illness she bore her sufferings with true christian fortitude, looking for peace in the life to come.

Mrs. Calf was born in England, August 23, 1840. She came to this country in 1856, and on February 4th, 1857, she was married to Edward Calf, in this city. Here she has resided ever since, her home being at No. 7 Franklin street, fourth ward. She was a communicant of Trinity church. She leaves a husband to whom is extended the sympathy of many friends. Deceased leaves also three sisters in England and one brother in this country.

The funeral will take place from Trinity church to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. James Slidell officiating.

ROBBED BY THIEFS.

A GUNNING EXCURSION TO THE BIG HILL IN ORDER.

The Beloit Free Press:—A German by the name of Carl Stein going down the railroad at the foot of the Big Hill, four miles north of the city, Saturday afternoon, April 27th, was attacked by a man in from in front and one in the rear. One grabbed him and they struck at him and stripped him of his valise and satchel, but he succeeded in escaping from them after a lively chase. He went to a number of men for assistance to secure his property from the robbers without success. About sundown he came to me excited, and handed me a watch and a purse containing $14.65. He started off at once saying the would call for the things, and that he had been robbed of his valise and satchel and was afraid they might get his money and watch. He had in his satchel and valise articles of the value of $30 to $40. They carried off what they wanted and burned the rest. About dusk Stein came with the satchel frame which he had taken from the fire all burning, his shoes and little trinkets. Half an hour after he gave me his money four men came within 40 to 50 rods of my house, turned northwest across lots and went up the creek towards Baldwin's as far as they could walk. The tramps had been camping and prowling about for two or three days, well "set up." The Big Hill is becoming a well known resort for these gentlemen.

This outrage has created quite a sensation in the neighborhood among the timid and nervous ones. It may be at about time to keep an eye on that noted place, and call a halt in that business. Other petty robberies and attempts to rob have been reported in the last two or three days. D. MERRILL.

THEY HAD NO FEELING.

THE DOINGS OF UNKIND MEN IN DESTROYING SENTIMENT.

Some unkind people are saying that true love has had another set-back in this city. Two young ladies, who divide between themselves the affections of a good-looking east sider, saw the young man lead his horse into a Court street blacksmith shop a day or two ago. It was an accident, probably, but seventeen times within the next half hour did the two fair ones ride down Court street past the shop. The fact that this was purely accidental made it all the more unkind for the men in the shop to greet the eighteenth appearance with such lack of feeling. As the young ladies came in sight around the corner a board was swung out, and on the board was this inscription:

Sorry, but John has gone to the city.

The matinee ended abruptly.

CENTENNIAL AT THE INSTITUTE.

CHILDREN OF THE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND CELEBRATE THE DAY.

Tree planting took up most of the time at the school for the blind this morning. The exercises were in conformity to Gov. Hoard's proclamation. All the trees used were donated by A. C. Tuttle, of Baraboo.

This afternoon there was a centennial service. Patriotic choruses were sung by the children, there was an address by Col. N. Smith, and recitations and other suitable exercises by the children. The exercise were in charge of Mrs. S. O. Little.

BELLS AND MUCH GUN POWDER.

They Inform Janesville People That Centennial Day Has Begun

The Day Generally Observed—What There Was to Be Seen And Heard.

Alderman Charley Horn ushered in Centennial day for the Bower City with his little cannon. He turned it loose at four seconds after twelve precisely, and made every sleeper within half a mile wish that the spring election had gone the other way. Finally his powder gave out; but just then the church bells began to chime in, and the flow of sound was kept up reasonably well until half past seven. The sleeper who had any reason to feel luscious has not yet been brought to light.

It was not Arbor day that Janesville people celebrated to-day. They had no time to think of anything but the Washingtonian centennial. It was for this that they hung flags and draped bunting; and with this in mind they gathered in church and school and listened to stories of the Revolution and to patriotic songs.

The observance of Centennial Day by the churches was general. It began by the vigorous chiming of bells at four o'clock, but at nine o'clock it took a more unobtrusive form. Services were held at the German Lutheran, the Court Street and at both of the Episcopal and the Catholic churches. The Rev. Max Albrecht spoke on topics suggested by the day, at the Lutheran church, and at the Court Street church union prayer services were led by the Rev. Matthew Evans.

The Rev. James Slidell spoke at Trinity church and conducted services suitable to the day. At Christ church there was an address by the Rev. H. Baldwin Dean.

Among the Catholics the day was observed with much spirit, in accordance with the proclamation of Archbishop Heiss. At nine o'clock a procession was formed, consisting of Divisions No. 1 and 2, A. O. B.; St. Patrick's T. A. & B. Society and the Temperance Cadets. The procession moved from Milwaukee and River streets west to Jackson street south on Jackson to St. Patrick's church. At the church high mass was celebrated and an address on the life of George Washington was made by the Rev. J. O'Keefe, president of the College of the Sacred Heart, Watertown.

At St. Mary's church high mass was celebrated at nine o'clock by the Rev. Father Roche.

But it was in the schools that patriotism overbore. Two thousand young people, each in newest bid and tucker, sat up stiffly under the eyes of parents and friends, and felt convinced that the glory of Washington was for the moment in their keeping. A thousand pupils of older growth were also gathered, and programmes of much excellence were presented.

The various city buildings were handsomely decorated. When the High school bell "talked out in meek" at half past seven, there were flags aloft on the building from pinnacle to basement. Broad campaign banners were draped from window to window, and from floor to floor; while about the pupils were clustered many smaller flags. The interior of the building was in full keeping. All of the rooms in which exercises were held were bright with flowers and the national colors. In the high school room heavy drapings of bunting supported by the traditional hatchet and flanked by pictures of Washington hid the walls behind the center platform from sight; and beside the platform was a cherry tree in full bloom. Patriotic designs hung from the walls on all sides.

Many of the most noteworthy pieces of decoration shown were in the lower rooms of the ward schools. The little ones came with arms filled with flowers and flags and the results of their work showed to advantage. Especial praise was drawn to the fourth ward school where the decorating was in charge of Junior Riley, and where the usual aspect of the rooms was changed beyond recognition by the array of flags and evergreen that came into service.

The day's exercises in the schools were taken part in by every department. Several of the rooms united and programmes of a suitable nature were presented in the High school, the eighth, fourth and second grade rooms of the first ward; the sixth, fourth and second grade rooms of the second ward; the sixth, fourth and second grade rooms of the third ward; the fifth, third and first grade rooms of the fourth ward; the fourth and second grade rooms of the fifth ward, and the second, fourth and sixth of the Central. The programmes for the fifth grade of the Central was yesterday accidentally omitted, and included the following numbers:—President's proclamation, George Ford; Sketch of Washington's life, Edward Davis; recitation, "He Lives," school; anecdote of Washington's boyhood, M. Valentine; recitation by school; "Washington on his way to New York," Jessie Cook; "The First Inauguration," Louise Crosby; Centennial School; recitation by school; "Home, Sweet Home."

In all of the schools grades of red, white or blue satin, commemorative of the day were provided, and one was furnished to each pupil. The exercises in most of the schools began at ten o'clock and at the close school was dismissed for the day.

The exercises at the High school were attended by W. H. Sargent Post and the Woman's Relief Corps; and in addition to the regular programme the veterans were called upon to sing "Marching Through Georgia."

CENTENNIAL DECORATIONS.

MANY PRIVATE HOUSES BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED WITH FLAGS.

Notwithstanding the fact that outside the public schools and the churches there was no public celebration of the centennial in Janesville, many private residences and a few business places were handsomely decorated with flags, and flags floated from the engine houses and the armory, and but for the season the day could have passed for a Fourth of July in Janesville without the firecracker annex. At an early hour in the morning the church and school bells were brought into use and lent their voices to that of the artillery to welcome the glad day. By sunrise the noise of the early morning had died away, and the school children began to show themselves decked in national colors, bearing little national flags, indicating that they were all imbued with true patriotism. This added to the short parade given by the G. A. R. members, and the Hibernians and the T. A. & B. Society, was all there was to enliven the streets or to indicate that April 30th was a great National holiday.

FOUND FOR THE PLAINTIFF.

A NIGHT'S VIGIL IN THE HERN-BROWN CASE RESULTS IN A VERDICT.

Judge Bennett would have observed centennial day to-day had it not been for a slow jury. The twelve good men and true in the Hern-Brown case went out yesterday, and seemed determined to stay. They stayed all the afternoon, they stayed all night. They came out at seven o'clock this morning, and had Judge Bennett repeat his charge. Then they went back again prepared if necessary to stay all day. At ten o'clock, however, they had agreed upon a verdict; and Judge Bennett was called and the verdict read. It was in favor of James Hern and against Walter R. Brown in the sum of $31.32, and against Walter R. Brown and Carlos Brown in the sum of $228. The verdict was a special one of twenty-seven clauses.

A motion was made by Doe & Sutherland on the part of the defendants to have the verdict set aside.
